NOTES:

Meet Chopped Chillies, a young pup who is still figuring out his place in the world. Like many puppies, he has big feelings about new and unfamiliar things and will need a patient, dog-savvy family to help him build confidence and navigate the things that make him nervous. Chopped Chillies is also an energetic boy with plenty of growing and learning ahead of him. He'll thrive with a combination of mental and physical stimulation, along with positive training and guidance to help him become his best self. He may even do well with a well-matched canine companion who can help show him the ropes and provide a little extra confidence along the way. If you're looking for a rewarding endeavor and a loyal companion in the making, Chopped Chillies is ready to spice up your life.
