NOTES:

Cotija is ready to leave kennel life behind and start his next chapter with a family of his own. This handsome heeler boy will thrive with patient adopters who can give him the time, structure, and reassurance he needs to settle into a home environment. As he adjusts, Cotija may benefit from a combination of mental and physical stimulation to keep his busy mind engaged and help him build confidence. With consistency, understanding, and time to decompress, he's sure to continue coming into his own. Cotija is looking for a family that will enjoy watching him grow into the wonderful companion he's meant to be.
