NOTES:

Phoebe is a sweet and sensitive girl who is looking for a patient family to help her build confidence at her own pace. She can be shy when meeting new people and will do best with adopters who are familiar with dog body language and can recognize when she needs a little extra space and reassurance. Giving Phoebe time to decompress and settle into her new home without asking too much of her in the beginning will help her feel safe and secure. With gentle guidance, consistency, and plenty of patience, Phoebe has all the potential to blossom into a devoted companion. If you're ready to let the relationship grow naturally, Phoebe is ready to find her fresh start.
