NOTES:

Shenanigans is a sweet and sensitive boy who is looking for a patient family to help him build confidence at his own pace. He can be shy and nervous when faced with new people or experiences, but he's willing to make new friends when given the time and space to feel comfortable. Shenanigans may enjoy living with a confident canine companion who can help show him the ropes and make new experiences feel a little less intimidating. He will also benefit from basic training, structure, and consistency as he settles into his new home. With patience, positive reinforcement, and plenty of encouragement, Shenanigans is sure to blossom into a wonderful companion.
