NOTES:

Meet Stimpy, a small and sensitive boy who is looking for a gentle home where he can feel safe and understood. He can be shy and a bit nervous at first, and he may be deaf, so he'll do best with a patient family that can accommodate his special needs and communicate with him in thoughtful, consistent ways. Stimpy would love to go home with his friend Ren, who helps him feel more confident and secure in new situations, but he might be ready to stake it out on his own with the right family. With kindness, routine, and a calm environment, Stimpy has all the potential to blossom into a sweet and devoted companion.
