NOTES:

Meet Washer, a polite and tidy gentleman who takes a little time to warm up, but is well worth the wait. Like many rabbits, he prefers to build trust at his own pace, settling in gradually as he gets to know his new environment and people.

Washer is clean, well-mannered, and brings a calm presence to the home. He could be a great match for both first-time rabbit owners and experienced bunny keepers alike, as long as they're patient and willing to let the bond develop naturally. If you're looking for a gentle companion who just needs a little time to feel at home, Washer is ready to meet you.
