

Vet List – as recommended by San Diego HRS

The following is a list of veterinarian hospitals in the San Diego that we know to treat rabbits on a regular basis. We have listed names of vets with whom we are familiar, however there may be additional vets at that location who do see rabbits. Please ensure that when you make an appointment, you ask to see a vet with extensive rabbit experience.

This list is provided only for your convenience and in no way should be considered an endorsement of any vet or clinic listed. RCHS cannot guarantee your satisfaction with any vet.

All clinics offer a free wellness exam within the first 10 days of adoption unless otherwise noted. This exam does not include any treatments or vaccinations. Please call the veterinarian's office first to confirm participation and to make an appointment. At the appointment please ask the vet to go over any charges that are not covered under the free exam.
